I. SIGNIFICANT ITEMS

Nothing to report.

II. OTHER ACTIVITIES

1. We have been attempting over the past few months to distribute the outside lecturing responsibility as widely as possible among SIC staff members to give them additional experience and confidence. [] have appeared at SIS in addition to [] has developed enough competence in the coverage of Communist doctrine so that he was able to pinch hit for me in the last running of [] seminar, and as you may have noticed in the current FSI schedule five members of the staff are participating this week. So far as I can determine all have been received favorably. At this point, therefore, our routine phase II responsibilities appear to be adequately planned for during my absence next year.

This leaves only special and infrequent commitments such as NIS, Armed Forces Staff College, or Air Command and Staff School. I have already indicated to NIS and the Staff College that we are prepared to continue the commitments which I have normally assumed. [] can easily take over the Bloc intelligence service coverage at NIS and [] the ideas of Communism. [] is well qualified to present the lecture at Norfolk, and he was particularly well received at Maxwell. I feel, therefore, that the continuity of our phase II effort will not be disrupted in anyway.

2. In order to enable [] to devote as much time as possible to the planning of SIC's JOT program [] has been designated to act as supervisor of the next two runnings of Introduction to Communism. I'm confident that he'll do a very competent job in this capacity.
